Lost treasure hunters tv series

Jonathan finds the secret nest of the newborn cubs of the father's lioness. Meanwhile, Leopard Olare shows a rarely seen mating ritual. The search for treasures lost from Jason Elias/Discovery Channel Pirate Gold to Royal Jewels has fuelled many to risk the great wealth and reputation of life and livelihood in the hope of great wealth and fame. Hollywood has long exploited stories shrouded in mystery about the lost treasure - think titanic's Ocean Heart sapphire and diamond necklace, Indiana Jones' quest to find the Holy Grail, or a group of soldiers searching for Kuwaiti gold in the Three Kings, just a few. TV has also hit it with plenty of ratings gold with many popular treasure-seeking shows. (The Latest, Discovery Channe's Devil's Canyon, premieres Tuesday, June 6 at 10:00 pm ET/PT.) Here we present the top five and assess their treasure hunt success. 1. Gold Rush (Discovery Channel) © Discovery Communications Discovery Channel's No. 1-rated show follows three different miners and their teams as they try to find gold in Alaska, the Yukon and the rest of the world. For seven seasons, we've been following gambler Todd Hoffman, 22-year-old Parker Schnabel and hotshot Tony Beets as they can move dirt and dirt for big nuggets. Schnabel has regularly walked away with millions, but last season he hit a big paycheck while simultaneously working on two washing plants on his claim, which produced him the biggest goldfall of his life worth more than $5 million. The series has been renewed for the eighth season and will return in the fall. Found or lost forever? This is the jackpot! They've found millions of gold. 2. The Curse of Oak Island (History) Rick and Marty Lagina have since they were children shared an insaliable desire (Rick a little more than Marty) to solve the mystery surrounding Oak Island, a 140-acre island off the coast of Nova Scotia believed to be a resting place for the ancient treasures of the Knights Tempest (some even believe the Ark of the Covenant is located there). Many legends of deadly curses and glorious treasures surround the island now owned by the brothers. They have spent years (four TV seasons) digging and searching for evidence of treasure. The goal is to solve the mystery. It's not so much a treasure - my brother might disagree a little with it - but there's a wonderful story written, Rick told me. I'd like to put a pen on a piece of paper and tell that story. We asked our father before he died: Father, if Oak Island has a real treasure, what should we do about it? My father didn't hesitate. He said, Do good with it. I guess it would be the endgame if there was a treasure involved, and I think that's what it's going to be. As of today, History has yet to renew the series for a fifth season. You can watch previous episodes on On Demand or History.com. Found or lost for a long time? While we love the Lagina brothers, we think they've taken this investigation as far as they can go. 1.3.111 1.3.111 He's not on Oak Island. 3. Treasure Quest: Snake Island (Discovery Channel) A handful of adrenaline-powered adventure seekers raked in one of the world's deadliest islands (apparently more than 4,000 snakes live in this 110-acre nightmare) in search of the legendary Trinity Treasure — an elusive Inca gold treasure believed to be worth nearly $400 million.

Well, they couldn't find the treasure there, but they found a map (with a hint!) that took them deep into the South American Atlantic Forest in Argentina and season 2, where they found more maps (Jesuit treasure maps), an Inca nose plate and more that led to a cave that led to more drawings leading to a remarkable discovery. At the end of last season, treasure hunters asked the authorities to extend their location permit for another three months, and they continued to search for very valuable artifacts related to trinity treasure. Found or lost forever? I found very rare items like an Inkaan gold sun mask. Discovery renewed the series for Season 3 to continue chronicling what the team has revealed. The real-life Indiana Jones Team travels to India in search of diamonds from the Guys of Nautin Lost Treasure Hunters and the search for diamond mines in india's ruined city of Golcona. The exhibition featured an expedition team led by Sam Speerstra, who have been searching for diamond mines for the last Years. It was easy to see that Mines are his lifelong mission and success was found in this premiere episode. Speerstra is considered the ultimate gold digger and is responsible for hunting. As any woman enjoys diamonds, according to ancient legend, the Golconda diamond mines offered some of the most beautiful and valuable diamonds in the world. It has even been said that the legendary Hope diamond came from the elusive Golconda diamond mine. Lost Treasure Hunters team members Sam Speerstra will lead the team, but the expedition would fail without the expertise of the crew. Dave McCracken plays an important role in the team, as he's an underwater miner. Speerstra and McCracken have been friends for three decades and Dave dived into the waters of the Krishna River to help find clues as to where the source of the diamond mine might be. The team wouldn't be perfect without Rob Towner. We saw Rob and Dave in one episode and Rob knows India, which makes him a vital part of the group. He is also an engineer and provided valuable information about the trip. Rob Towner has the necessary skills to ensure that the equipment works and works throughout the expedition. Although the team constantly found valuable diamonds, their main goal was to find the source of the diamond mines. Dr Steve Newbery is another important and very valuable member of the team because he is a geologist and together with Rob he has invaluable skills that the team depends on to find diamond mines. The only member of the women's team is Susanna Girolamo and is called an apprentice. This was Susanna's first expedition with the team and she brings several sides to the groups as she speaks multiple languages and acts as a translator. Susanna has also served in several medical positions in third world countries. Bringing the myth to reality The show was very exciting, as the legends of the Golcona diamond mines have lasted for hundreds of years; However, no one knows where the mines are. As locals and team members continued to search for diamonds, it was clear that the legends were true and that with their skills, technique and ingenuity, they would soon reveal the location of the mines. The exhibition also presented the importance of team collaboration to achieve one goal. When the team discovered an ancient temple believed to have been used by miners, it was clear that they were on the right track. Race Against Time: Looking for diamonds In addition to the exciting nature of the show, several elements also made the show fun to watch. The team has to overcome the monsoon rains that quickly halt their search, so they work fast. It was also fascinating to watch how the team relied on maps used by ancient miners to find clues to the mines. Combining ancient mining tools with new, modern equipment added a unique element to the exhibition. It has an Indiana Jones vibe and could easily have been Harrison. leading an expedition to lost mines. Lost Hunters is quality, reality television. These treasure hunters are not actors, and a Google search of team members brings out the extensive history and credentials that confirm the crew and the exhibition. Show.
